

the world is round, and yet

often think it square,
 many little hurts we get
 From corners here and there.
 One sad truth in life I've found
 While journeying east and west,
 Only folks we really wound
 Are those we love the best.
 Hatter those we scarcely know,
 We please the fleeting guest,
 Deal full many a thoughtless blow
 To those we love the best.

There are now no small independent mines around Dawson. They have all, without exception, been swallowed up by the big companies, the Guggenheims, New York, employ about 2,000 men, you can understand the enormity of their work. These men are of all races and nationalities, but there is one class that is not tolerated, the negro. He may have come but they got out again. A person leaving the city a couple of years ago and returning now would not know it as the same place. Then it is a conglomeration of saloons, dance halls and other places. Now, this is a small little city, under the marshmallow control of the R. N. W. M. P. Major crimes are in charge of the police and the place is very easily kept in

The city has a water service, electric light, and in fact every modern convenience, but a street railroad. The most notable man in Dawson is the retired Presbyterian minister, Dr. Henry H. Hays. He is the first Christian in Dawson, but soon he got the gold craze and speculated, resigning from the ministry. He is now probably the wealthiest individual in Dawson.

The community is full of sports, and the city has all the team and hockey teams. A cup has been donated to both sports and a keen rivalry exists between the opposing teams, who are made up of the workmen of one of the big companies.

The price of the commodity is very high. I don't know much about the commissariat department, but I do know that it costs fifty cents for a glass of whisky that is half water, and twenty-five cents for a ten cent plug of bacco."

A Bilious Attack.

When a man is bilious the food in his stomach ferments instead of being disted. This causes a severe headache, fact, that is usually the first symptom, a bilious attack. There is loathing food, sometimes vomiting and usually constipation. Obviously the stomach must be cleansed of all fermenting food before a cure can be effected. When more food is eaten before the stomach thoroughly cleansed, that also ferments and adds to the severity of the attack. The fermenting food inflames the stomach and destroys its power to digest food of any kind. A bilious attack is easily and quickly cured, however, when properly treated. All that is needed is a full dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to cleanse the stomach and regulate the liver and bowels. Then eat only dry crusts of heat bread and drink only hot water one day. The bilious attack can bles the digestion and this light diet gives it a chance to recover. The tablets also strengthen and invigorate the stomach.

A Wonderful Squirrel.

An old negro who lives in the country

Stomach Troubles.

If you have any trouble with your digestion you will be interested in the experience of Samuel Boyd, of Folsom, Wva. "After doctoring for about 12 years and spending nearly $500.00 for medicine and doctor's fees," he says, "I purchased for my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Bowel Remedy."

and Mellin's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her more good than all the medicine I bought before." Let anyone take these tablets as directed, and adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation and he is certain to get well.

Earth Best in Fortification.

Military engineers are practically unanimous in acknowledging that for fortification no material is better than earth. In places where the soil is ...in places where clay is not obtainable, as on the sea-shore sand is collected into bags and these are used to build up defences. In such fortification the shells sink without doing damage and the shells explode harmlessly.

A Standard Remedy.

"I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for the last year, and a testify that they are something everybody should secure for the household," writes Mrs. M. A. Sears, of Torrance, Ont.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets should have a place in every me. They are a standard remedy for constipation, biliousness, sick headache and kindred ailments, and are worth any times the price charged for them, cents.

Vancouver, the London Times, referring editorially at considerable length to the Japanese invasion of the coast, marked in its serious way that the Vancouver riot was quelled "by that admirable force, the Northwest Mounted Police." The nearest station of the ounted Police is 1,000 miles from ancouver.

I would be true, for there are those who trust me;
I would be pure, for there are those who care;
I would be strong, for there is much to suffer;
I would be brave, for there is much to dare;
I would be friend of all—the foe—the friendless;
I would be giving and forget the gift;
I would be humble, for I know my weakness;
I would look up—and laugh—and love—and lift.

The Value of Tact.

Among the qualities most essential to women tact may fairly take a front place, for, without it, words spoken and things done with the best motives not only fall often of their effect, but may even be productive sometimes of the very evil which they were intended to prevent. No human being can afford to be devoid of tact, although a great many people are in that condition, but it is especially necessary to those whose strength lies in their weakness, or, in other words, those for whom judgement and persuasiveness are the only weapons. A tactless woman drives the elements instead of soothing them and drives those about her nearly to desperation, simply because of never studying their peculiarities and hobbies, she has no idea of what will please or offend, and consequently she says and does things "which rub them the wrong way," and irritate beyond bearing.

Timely Warning.

If you talk about your ill-health it will make you less healthy.
Worry about your work, it will make you less capable.

Imagine you are disliked, it will make you less likable.
Find fault with others, it will make them faultier.

Anticipate evils, you are sure to bring them upon you.
Talk much of what you are going to do, you will never do it.—Selected.

Its Popularity is Widespread.

From all parts of Canada, from the fishing villages of Nova Scotia to the cities and towns of Ontario and the prairies of the West, come endorsements of Chamberlain's Salve.

Mrs. E. Maskell of West Jeddore, Halifax County, N. S., writes:—"I find your Salve all that is claimed for it—a real healer and soother."

Read what Mrs. Robt. Mytton of 457 John street, Hamilton, says of it:—"My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee, and after making two or three applications of the Salve it healed beautifully. I may add that I had tried several other things and had no satisfaction out of them whatever. I shall keep it in the house and recommend it at all times."

Mr. Patrick Mooney of Manotick, Ont., says:—"I have used a box of your Salve and find it good."

In sending for a box of Chamberlain's Salve, Miss Rose M. Smith of Millbridge, Ontario, expresses her opinion of it as follows:—"I think it is the most wonderful salve ever made. I have used it for many years and it has cured me of many things."

Chamberlain's Salve for a Salve very bad running sore which was difficult to heal. I had used many salves and lotions without avail. This salve cleansed and healed the sore and left no scar," says A. F. Smith of Wolsley, N. W. T.

In the United States, where the Chamberlain Medicine Co. has been in business for thirty-five years, this Salve is even better known than it is in Canada, and is popular everywhere.

Flavoring for Postage Stamps.

A postoffice employe of Norwalk, Conn., is suffering from the constant licking of postage stamps. She deserves the sympathy of the whole country. All who have applied their tongues to the governmental gins on the back of Ben Franklin's little portrait, and who for the next ten seconds have carried countenances expressive of bereavement will feel with the young woman who complains that her tongue "aches most of the time." As a nation we are not fond of duty, we partake in one two cent dabs. But if we pay from one to ten cents for liquid refreshment the government should furnish a flavor. If the pure food experts, instead of endorsing flimsy breakfast foods, would make a scale of seasonings for postage stamps, then, indeed, would they deserve the praise of a grateful country.

Would You be a Reformer.

Young Voltairine was thrum with his studies. He left school. He was standing one day before his father in the library. Said the father: my son, have you determined upon what career you would like to enter? "I should like to be a reformer," replied Voltairine. "And have you my son, considered the fate of reformers?" "And what may the fate of reformers be, father?" For the sole answer to young Voltairine's query, his father gravely presented a picture representing Jesus of Nazareth on the cross.—Critic and Guide.

The Only Remedy that Gives Relief.

"For a number of years I have been troubled with salt rheum, and Chamberlain's Salve is the only thing I can get to be a reformer," replied Voltairine. "And have you my son, considered the fate of reformers?" "And what may the fate of reformers be, father?" For the sole answer to young Voltairine's query, his father gravely presented a picture representing Jesus of Nazareth on the cross.—Critic and Guide.

Sum Too Hard.

A story is told of a school house janitor who resigned because he saw written on the board: "Find the least common multiple," and after a search of all the buildings was unable to locate it.

If a man empties his purse into his head, no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest.—Franklin.

BURNS AND SCALDS.—It allays the pain of a burn almost instantly and causes the parts to heal without leaving a scar unless the injury is very severe.
FROST BITES AND CHILBLAINS.—It allays the inflammation, itching, and smarting of frost bites, soon effecting a cure.

EZEMA.—Do not permit this disease to keep you in torment. One application of Chamberlain's Salve will make you forget that you were ever troubled with eczema.

TETTER AND SALT RHEUM.—The itching and smarting characteristic of these diseases is quickly allayed by Chamberlain's Salve, and many cases have been cured by it.

SORE NIPPLES.—It is about the only remedy that can be relied on to cure this disease.

CHRONIC SORE EYES AND GRATEFUL EYE LIDS.—Many cases of these diseases that have resisted all other treatment have been permanently cured by Chamberlain's Salve.

OLD CHRONIC SORES should not be healed entirely but kept in good condition by applying this salve.

Give it a trial for all of these diseases and if you are not fully satisfied after using two-thirds of the box, return it to the dealer from whom you bought it and he will buy it back. It is truly one of the best and most reliable preparations that the Chamberlain Medicine Co. manufacture.

Unavoidable.

On a recent Monday morning the pastor of a church was the recipient of a basket of strawberries brought to him by a little girl of the parish.

"Thank you very much, my dear," said the minister. "These berries are as fine as any I've ever seen. I hope, however, that you did not gather them yesterday—the Sabbath."

"No, sir," replied the child. "I pulled 'em early this mornin'; but they was a-growin' all day yesterday!"

As Anyone Knows.

Lightly as a word once spoken—

Ins and Outs.

Bronzed by foreign suns, he entered the dear old office of his colleague.

But the cashier's chair was vacant.
"Is Mr. Price out?" he asked anxiously. "I am an old friend of his."

"No, sir," returned the clerk. "Mr. Price is not out. He won't be out for sixteen years."

Here the clerk smiled grimly.
"The firm is out, though," he went on, "last one hundred thousand out."

Burns and Scalds.

For injuries of this character we have pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Salve. It allays the pain of a burn very quickly and causes the injury to be a severe one it will heal the parts without leaving a scar. Every family should keep it at hand, for no other purpose than for burns and scalds.

Desires to be Radiant.

I desire to radiate health, cheerfulness, sincerity, calm courage and good will. I wish to live without hate, whim, jealousy, envy or fear. I wish to be simple, honest, natural, clear-headed and clean in body, unaffected, kindly and say "I do not know" if so it be, and let men on an absolute equality to face any obstacle and meet every difficulty unafraid and unabashed. I wish others to love their lives, too, up to their highest, fullest and best. To that end I pray that I may never meddle, dictate, interfere, give advice that is not wanted, nor assist when my services are not needed. If I can help people I'll do it by giving them a chance to help themselves, and if I can inspire or inspire let it be by example, inference and suggestion rather by injunction and dictation. That is to say, I desire to be radiant—to radiate life.—Elbert Hubbard.

The Coldest Place on Earth.

Mr. Chamberlain has habitually read the recorded temperatures in different parts of Canada have the idea that White River, Ontario, is the coldest place on the map. As a producer of low temperatures it is among the leaders, but still some distance behind Werchojansk, in the interior of Siberia, where on January 15, 1885, the thermometer registered 90 degrees below zero. Werchojansk is in the latitude of the pole of cold. There the earth is frozen to a depth of about one hundred feet, and in the warmest season it never thaws.

Going Nowhere.

Little 12-year-old Rastus Johnson was strolling along the road, evidently at peace with himself and the world, and in not much of a hurry. As he seemed to be going nowhere in particular, a smart bystander, thinking to have some fun with the little dorker, said: "Hello, Rastus, where are you going?" "Ain't gwine nowhere," Rastus replied. "I'se done been whar I'se gwine."

Think less about your rights, more about your duties.
