two have not been hard. Can you walk? Will you walk with me? To motor is to save time, but it is to fail to see the details, the beauties of lawns, of shrubs, of flowers, of trees. To walk is to see the color groups, to feel the voiceless appreciation but real, to think along live lines, to meet real people, and to make our impress.

people, and to make our impress.
The hour for Division meetings is after dark. All are tired. The home appeals with greatest force when need of rest presents itself.
The hall where the equipment, the records, the books of ceremony to be opened and to be kept open, where the routine is to be followed with as many short cuts as possible, is some distance away and amid noise and confusion.
We have seen prints of people going to church in family groups. All are happy, proud of kindred, of society connections, receptive for instruction, ions, receptive for instruction, for inspiration men who founded the Sons of Tem-perance had been meeting at round tables, with beverages running over, with plates not empty. We can see them; can hear their he-man talk. We know well about their plans, their growth, the great service rendered to growth, the great service rendered to homes and to communities. They did homes and to communities. They did that. There was help received from above. That same is available for us. Their story is our reading. Their theme is our guide, our watch-word. To forget the old is to make impossible the new. To bring back the former years is not to make them serve as present annals. We must make our own history, but not read it.

To walk ahead is to see the future, to glimpse the horizon, to seek its line, but not to reach it. It is just beyond us always, always moving as we are nearing, but never too far, never an impossible distance away.

on new but lasting foundations.

We must seek the quiet room. We must fill the sheets which once were blank, with intelligence reports, with outlines of plans, with details of force-ful representatives, those of high standing, of business acumen, or recognized social position. We must know everything, but reveal nothing. We shall need to actually meet the opposition, but we need not push them over. They are no good for us unless they stand. It is better if they are friendly. We can bluff them, we can fight them, but we need not natagoing them. but we need not antagonize them. We may meet the enemy; but we must make them our friends, and hope to persuade them to yield, to oppose less, to re-inforce more.

Look up the recorded words in vol-umes not our own. Call to blessed memory Burgoyne and Jarvis of Ont-ario; Spooner and Hohenthal of Connecticut, call out to those in Nova Scotia who are making representations to governments, who are giving out reases to the press.

96th Annual Session Prince Edward Island

The 96th Annual Meeting of The Grand Division of Prince Edward Island met with Star of Hope at Cape Wolfe on July 4th, the G.W.P. Rev John M. Sheen in the chair.

On motion Subordinate Division members were admitted on giving the Sub. Div. Pass Word. Most Worthy Scribe Bro. E. R. Nick-erson of the National Division of North America was given an official welcome. He was introduced by Bro. A. A. Mac-Leod P. M. W.

America was given an official welcome. He was introduced by Bro. A. A. Mac-Leod, P.M.W.A.

The G.W.P. reported as follows:
He noted with pleasure that we were meeting with a Division that had been organized in 1886 and was still going strong. He also extended a welcome and greeting to the M.W. Seribe. He referred to the fact that while we were heaven to the control of the contro here in peace and seclusion the terrible war was still going on, but that there was another warfare always being fought— that war against the Liquor traffic. Many commodities were being rationed Many commodities were being rationed but very little was being done to ration liquor. He also pointed out that pres-sure was being put on this province by those who want the selling of intox

Following the G.W.P.'s report that that of the G.S. was given. In it he made reference to the death of Bro. D. N. MacKay, M.P. who was with us when the G.D. met last at Cape Wolfo. Bro. MacKay was one of the outstanding men of temperance in P.E.I. and always worked for the Good of the Order, a good example for other members of G.D. to follow.

THE SEVEN MEN OF PRESTON

This issue of the "Forward" comes out just before the 102 Anniversary of the institution of the first Division in New York City, Sept. 29th 1842. Any organization which as carried on over a century has a just claim to a place in history; and when that organization is a temperance one it has a proud and honored place in a nation's life as an agency for human aid and national betterment unqualled by any other except the Christian church.

But 1944 is also a memorable year in the cause of total abstinence in England, Your Editor was born and spent the early years of his life in the town of Preston, Lancashire, England. And the name which stands out most prominent in the bistory of the total abstinence movement is that of Joseph Livesay. One hundred and fifteen years ago, Joseph and his friend, John King, signed the first total abstinence pledee, and so began the temperance movement as it is known to us today. It would be impossible to estimate the value to the nations of the world of the life of this one man who was the inspirer of the temperance cause, the movement has spread a beneficial influence upon the whole human family, giving joy in the place of misery, and increasing the sum of happiness to countless millions. Your Editor can go back to where 50 years ago he signed the temperance pledge and joined the Band of Hope in Preston.

Joseph Livesay was born in the Village of Walton, near Preston, on March Sch, 1794, 160 years ago. After the death of his parandisther's house, soon after his marriage, he removed to Preston, where he became a cheese maker.

Drunkenness at this time, was very common, and, to combat it, the Preston Temperance Society was formed. Its pledge was the moderation one, but it failed to carry out its purpose, so Joseph and his friend, John King, signed an abstinence pledge, and, on September 1st, 1832, five others also signed and are now known as the Seven Men of Preston, it is given to the first total abstinence pledge in the film. It is a very valuable addition to the Leagues library.

I

remperance cucasion it the trianu division possesses a moving picture machine and made a collection of Temperance films.

We ought to be proud, however, that we are members of a society with such a history of social, moral and spiritual betterment covering a period of 114 years since the first total abstinence pledge was taken.

TEMPERANCE STUDY COURSE

By Rev. R. C. Chalmers, B.A., B.D., P.G. Chaplair

18. Let Us Know The Truth About Alcohol.

Read John 8:32.

we live in a factorian eage and to so one or the objects of men or seence tima.

they seek for the truth and when they find it they lef factual truth speak for tself. Over every hall of Science might be written these words of Jesus:

"Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Facts are always liberating for they release us from the shackles of superstition, ignorance and liberating for they resease as a second of the first propagation.

To-day the cause of true Temperance has a great ally in Medical Science and firsts of various descriptions which reveal the harmful effects of alcohol on personal and social life. So when the Brewers advertise, "Beer is Best," as they have been doing in Great Britain, we know the statement is false, unless we add—best for breaking up homes, causing poverty, prostitution, insanity and they have been doing in Great Britain, we know the statement is false, unless we add—best for breaking up homes, causing poverty, prestitution, insanity and social degredation.

Another of these Brewer's gems on my deak is a letter to the father of a twenty-one year old son. It begins: "If you are a wise father you'll be honest with your son." And then goes on: "If you have brought him up in the British Tradition you can be sure be will want to know both sides. Tell your son that people can't be made sober by law. Tell him that properly conducted beverage rooms are, the first defence against the bootlegger, the strongest weapon against excessive drinking." Yes, father, tell your son that four hundred years ago the British people called the tavern "the devil's school and the devil's chapel." And you might mention also, how in a play of that early time, called "The Harrowing of Hell", and the souls are released, and how the devil begt to be allowed to keep one, and is finally granted the soul of the Brewer. Give your son the full story of the "British tradition."

Yes, father tell your son the whole story. It is important that he should know the truth about alcohol. As you read from your morning paper the record of death and mutilation by "moderate drinking" divers, quote to your son the revealing inscription from an ancient Egy ptian tomb: "His earthly tenement was shattered by beer and wine and his spirit departed before it was called for." Tell him the whole truth about the beverage rooms. Here is a quotation from a Toronto paper: "When it takes eleven policemen to care for the drunks emitted atmidnight from one Toronto beverage rooms. Here is a quotation from a re required for the same purpose; when in almost every town or city of Ontario men and—alas, too often—women are turned out of beverage rooms at midnight in various stages of intoxication, it is rank hypocrayin for the Brewers to prate about moderation. It is common knowledge that the Brewers finance many of these places."

The committee are planning to pack and ship another case of clothing by the middle of October. As it takes some middle of October. As it takes some time for these shipments to reach their destinations, this may be our last ship-ment to reach there before Christmas, so we ask any contributors to send in what they can before Oct. 10th. The Sons of Temperance of Nova

The Sons of Temperance of Nova Scotia have given much consideration to this nationalization scheme. They recognize the big argument put out in its favour, the political and financial power of the liquor trade, but they do not believe this would be eliminated if the Govt, bought out the manufacturing electrical search the statement of the contract of the statement of the stateme the Govt, bought out the manufac-turing plants, and ran the business.

The Dominion Cabinet would not personally run the breweires and distill-eries, they would need large Boards or Commissions, and their products would have to be sold to Provincial Govt. Liquor Stores, and to Provinces which are cursed with beer parlours. Any one who knows aught to political con-ditions will agree that political pressure of liquor interests would not be elimin-ated under such conditions.

NORTH SYDNEY DIVISION

The North Sydney Division S. of T. met for their District Visitation, Aug. 22nd. in the Division Hall, with the W.P. in the Chair. One new member was inititated. The Grand W.P. Bro. H. E. Nickerson was present and intro duced to the Division members by the D.W.P. Edna MacDonald. The Grand W.P. gave a very interesting admembers by the dress which was enjoyed by all. Other addresses were given by visiting broth-ers and sisters from Edwardville, Syders and sisters from Edwardville, Syd-ney, Sydney Mines and N. Sydney. A large number was in attendance. The large number was in attendance. The pleasant and enjoyable evening was brought to a close with delicious re-freshments served by the sisters.

A CALL TO ACTION-TRUE TO

In one of our jurisdictions a few years ago, when conditions were rather unfavourable, the G.W.P. a Medical Doctor, in his report had the following from tor, in his report had the following from which we quote, because what he said is equally true today."After many years of experience in the Order, dur-ing which I have been actively engaged in building up its Divisions and endea-vouring to promote their usefulness, I deliberately declare, that in my judgment no other temperance organization is so well fitted as the Order of the SONS OF TEMPERANCE to advance the cause, redeem the inebriate, and preserve him from relapse into his form-er habits, and at the same time save our youth from taking the first fatal steps that lead to destruction. And I lieve there is no means by which we can impress the public mind in any locality so readily and thoroughly as by keeping up in it an active, brave, and faithful Division of the Sons of Tem-perance, hence I am fully persuaded of the important duty in our present condition, of once more turning our attendition, of once more turning our accession systematically and perseveringly to the recruiting ervice of the Order believing that if we do so, we shall conquer success.

Let us vow then upon the Altars of our Noble Order that this shall be done.

IF WE WILL IT, AND ACT, WE CAN ACHIEVE THIS AND MORE

Our beloved Order has yet within itself all its former capabilities for good, and high capacities for results, and only needs to have its members aroused and rallied beneath its onners.

To thus arouse and recall to our ranks the inactive is the duty of every member of the Sons of Temperance. Let our Division rooms be filled again as of yore—the glory still hovers in them. Let us gather together as of old.

Nothing so stirs the blood of men Noting so attraction in the total open on the combine deeds, to works of worth and goodness as the co-operation of their fellow men. Nothing so enhances the attraction of the Division Room to members as the presence of fellow members. And this I hold to be one of the great underlying principles for success Attend the meetings and for success. Attend the meetings and you will help supply the genial source from which other good will come. Old members will be warmed back and new ones will come to unite and strengthen

Try it Members-try it faithfully. Continuous attendance at your meetings, in the old brotherly cordial way of the Order. Be faithful in bringing in members for protection, and to build up our work.

Let us also revive the weak, and re-organize the dormant Divisions of the Order. This should be the effort of every true Son of Temperance. who have interest in others good, and who appreciate the importance of our mission, have a work to do.

Do not be discouraged but put faith in good works—and in God. Mem-bers may get weary but seasons of re-freshing come to all those who earnestly expect and labour for them.

Finally I again appeal to every member of the Order who loves the Cause, 'by the memory of the past' "when our very name carried victory with it, 'by the dignity of the present' when the conditions of the Order de-mand the best efforts of every member, and 'by the solemnity of the future' in which we must answer at the bar of our own consciences and to the Great Patriarch above, for the fate of this Order is in your hands, to go once more Order is in your hands, to go once mor heartily and bravely to work.

OUR 102nd ANNIVERSARY

On Sept. 29th, 102 years will have elapsed since "the immortal sixte met at 71 Division St. New York City, and instituted New York Division

1. The pioneer temperance order of this continent.

Little probably did those 16 men think as they went home that evening, rounding a rescue and educational temperance fraternity, that their Order would be living more than a century hence, during which it would spread to near-ly all parts of the English speaking world, and enroll ten millions of members. Brief and imperfect sketches of some of its history have been given in the Centennial booklet, and occasionally in Forward, but few realize the work done in the past century.

For the past 70 years, at least, nearly all the temperance leaders of the continent have been trained in Division rooms.

continent have been trained in Division rooms.

The numerous field agent employed, the publications, literature distributed the juvenile work, all the educational work used had a great effect in reducing consumption of liquor, and obtaining restrictive laws.

The subordinate Divisions were centres of local activity, members filled with the missionary spirit of bringing in the drinking men and spreading the gospel of total abstinence. The Grand Divisions in every part of this continent, brought the state and Provincial leaders together, planning for strengthening of the Order's work, and the prohibition of the sale of drink. The Nattonal Division united of action great leaders and memoers from Canada, the U.S. and Newtoundland.

The real work of the Order is not shown on printed pages, but in the many men who have been redeemed from drink, homes made happier, and the many it has prevented from acquiring the drink habit.

It has prevented from acquiring the drink habit.

It is unfortunate that when prohibitry laws have been secured, so man seem to feal that the objective is secured and temperance organizations do not need support. Such legislation must have public support.

need support. Such legislation must have public support.

The bistery of the past century proves, that when the Sons of Tempere have been strong and supported, drink consumption has decreased, and rictive laws are secured and enforced. We are paying the penalty to day

There is nothing to strengthen temperance organizations to weaken.

There is nothing to strengthen temperance work, like organizations devoted to this purpose with regular meetings. With the experience and success of the past, and the great needs of to day let us observe our 102nd anniversary by y member working for a revival and strengthening of the Order's wo old motto is still good "EVERY MEMBER BRING A MEMBER" every member

FROM THE G.W.P. OF NOVA SCOTIA

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

In my last letter I expressed hopes of visiting some divisions during vacation and although there was very short notice for preparation, I did have the pleasure of attending several meetings and interviewing a number of member outside. This was during the hottest weather of the season and shows the loyalty of members in continuing throughout the summer.

After an absence of two years I again found myself in Cape Breton for a stay of ten days. Met with several members of the Cape Breton District Division at the home of Bro. Gec. MacViear (noted for his poetry) in Sydney, the meeting being presided over by Sis. Edna MacDonad, the interested Dist. W.P. who had come 18 miles by bus. Plans were made to hold a quarterly session of their district at St. Peter's for the end of August as an encouragement towards suitable observance of the 60th anniversary of that division. However this had to be changed later for a meeting at Mira.

suitable observance of the 60th anniversary of that division. However this nad to be changed later for a meeting at Mira.

Transportation has prevented the splendld fraternal gatherings which characterized this district some years ago, but visitations are arranged and a number of outings held by various divisions. A cleange in the weather on the night of Stari-nt-be-East's (Sydney) pienic supper caused it to be held in their hall, where I found Bro. A. S. MacDonald performing most efficiently as chief costs. The following week I visited them and was pleased by find Rev. Bro. E. R.

The following week I visited them and was pleased to find Rev. Bro. E. R. MacVicar among those present. He was an active member of Murray while attending College in Halifax and after serving on pastorates in the West is now back in P.E.I., where he hopes to regain contact with the members.

At Edwardsville, we found King Edward Div. carrying on regularly with a loyal and efficient group of members, despite many away in the services. Bro. Morrison whose recitation "The Wooden Wedding" is always enjoyed, and Rupert Frase: are among the faithful. Several members weet present from other divisions for the visit at North Sydney, which was abley presided over by Sis. Mrs. Nelson Hare and one candidate initiated.

Bro. Gordon Parsons had recently been reported a prisoner of war following the sinking of one of our ships and we pray for his return.

After correspondence with the deputy of Denver-Newtown in Guys Co. a special meeting of their division was called on short notice and so I left Sydney two days earlier in order to visit them. Leaving the train at Antigonish I dreve on the Sherbrooke mail route to Aspen, then across to New Town with another mail driver, where I was met by Bro. Ernest Archibald, the efficient deputy and entertained at his home. That evening over 40 members who could practically all be termed young people, were at the meeting. Some had driven 10 miles and it was a great gathering. They are fine singers and an interesting group with whom one would like to meet frequently. The work of our order in promoting total abstinence for better citizenship is surely illustrated by such meetings.

A plentful supply of ice cream and cake was passed at the conclusion. In fact at all meetings there was an abundance of good things to eat and like other parts of the province, the cooks of our order are second to none.

A pientitii supply of tee cream and case was passed at the concusion. In fact at all meetings there was an abundance of good things to eat and like other parts of the province, the cooks of our order are second to none. After an early breakfast next morning, followed by family worship, we drove several miles to context with the mile car for New Glasgow, enjoying the pretty drive through the Garden of Bden, Rocky Mountains, Blue Mills, etc. Visits such as these necessarily shorten a vacation and yet, the renwing of friendships and making new acquaintances within our Order, give an idea of the possibilities and need of our work.

We must have an Agent in the field and I firmly believe we can increa members and thank all for the fraternal spirit and co-operation shown.

While visiting in Wolfville recently I joined Bro. A. W. Leslie, P.G.W.P. to visit Bro. Thos. Borden of Greenwich now in his 92nd year, but fairly active and keenly interested in the Order, with a partial hope that he may get to the

The Mar. Baptist Convention was concluding its session and it was plea ing to note their continued opposition to the liquor traffic and there certainly was no suggestion of supporting the nationalization of the liquor business.

OBSERVANCE OF PEACE

As the end of the war seems to be getting nearer, papers and magazines in ome parts of this continent, are conducting enquiries, s to how individuals will celebrate the peace.

A not uncommon answer is, "by hiving a good drunk." Some tell of hoarding up champagne against the great day, and in other cities the Mayors say the liquor stores will be closed.

When we think of what this war has cost humanity, with the price not yet when we tunk of what this war has cost humanity, what the price not yet all paid, the murders, tortures, starvation and death inflicted on the occupied countries, people, to say nothing of the loss of all they possessed.
